“On the Way Home”

Ben Shooter, a 15 year old artist and musician from Little Falls, NJ, seeks to show you something interesting with his first ever photography show, “On the Way Home.” Raised on comic books, Star Wars movies and all types of music, Ben’s notebooks are full of drawings of everything from Boba Fett to Biggie Smalls. Ben has an appreciation for surreal artwork, the subtle influence of which can be seen in photos like “Bright Idea” and “Spherical Army.” In his photography, Ben Shooter desires to create something unexpected and different. In his free time, he can be found playing guitar, listening to records, drawing or finding an inventive way to procrastinate with his homework.
